

BIRDS

BY: Matthew Blasingame
& Sarah League

Pic of a ugly blue jay

HABITAT Blue jays are found in all kinds of forests but especially near oak trees there more abundant near forest edges than in deep forest. There common in urban and suburban areas, especially where oak or bird feeders are found.

Eat: Blue jays eat insects, nuts and seeds from trees, shrubs and on the ground they also eat dead and injured small vertebrate and sometimes rays nest for eggs and nesting, stomach content over the year reveal that the diet is almost 80% acorns and other plants matter

Pic of an blue jay

pic of a blue jay

In the era of technology, everything is growing very fast so it's essential for our engineers to be up to speed and to experiment with new technologies. Over here, I'm grateful for the trust and freedom to be innovative. Everyday when I walk into the office, I feel there is so much of energy around the problem that we're trying to solve and everyday the problem is different. The market is also really big and it's still growing, and that is why I think it's daily affair of falling in love all over again with the work that we're doing.

Nesting: Blue Jays build there open cups nest of twigs grass and mud lined with rootlets in the crotch or thick outer branches of a tree 10-25 feet above the ground they fly long distance to obtain rootlets from recently dug ditches, overturned earth, and newly fallen trees.

Pic of a pink blue jay

Pic of a pink blue jay